The Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA or the Act) provides for publication of an inventory of open dumps. The Act defines "open dumps" as facilities which do not comply with EPA's "Criteria for Classification of Solid Waste Disposal Facilities and Practices" (40 CFR 257).

EPA has provided funds to State solid waste management agencies to evaluate disposal facilities against the Criteria. Through such evaluations the States have been able to identify facilities which do not comply with the Criteria and are, therefore, "open dumps". The facility evaluations leading to publication of the inventory were conducted by State agencies as part of their effort to develop and implement State solid waste management plans in accordance with the Act. This report is the second installment of the Inventory of Open Dumps.

INVENTORY OF OPEN DUMPS

The Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA or the Act) provides for publication of an inventory of open dumps. The Act defines "open dumps" as facilities which do not comply with EPA's "Criteria for Classification of Solid Waste Disposal Facilities and Practices" (40 CFR 257).

EPA has provided funds to State solid waste management agencies to evaluate disposal facilities against the Criteria. Through such evaluations the States have been able to identify facilities which do not comply with the Criteria and are, therefore, "open dumps". The facility evaluations leading to publication of the inventory were conducted by State agencies as part of their effort to develop and implement State solid waste management plans in accordance with the Act.

STRUCTURE OF SUBTITLE D PLANNING PROGRAM

Subtitle D of the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA or the Act) established a voluntary program through which participating States received Federal financial support to develop and implement solid waste management plans. EPA's role in the program has included publishing guidelines for States to follow in developing their plans, providing funds for the States, and approving those State plans which meet the requirements of the Act.

On July 31, 1979, EPA published "Guidelines for Development and Implementation of State Solid Waste Management Plans" (40 CFR 256, 44 FR 45066-45086). The Guidelines are based on Section 4003 of the Act, which lists the minimum requirements with which State plans must comply. Section 4007 of the Act provides for EPA approval of State plans meeting the requirements.

Role of the Inventory

One requirement listed in the Act and addressed in the Guidelines is that "the plan shall provide for the closing or upgrading of all existing open dumps within the State ..." To aid the States in satisfying this requirement, EPA has funded State efforts to identify open dumps so that they can plan to provide for their closure or upgrading. In furtherance of this planning effort, the Act requires that EPA publish an inventory of open dumps. Publication of the inventory will serve to inform the Congress and the public of those facilities which the States have found to be open dumps.

Classification Criteria

For purposes of State planning and the inventory, the Act defines the term "open dump" to mean "... any facility or site where solid waste is disposed of which is not a sanitary landfill which meets the criteria promulgated under Section 4004 and which is not a facility for disposal of hazardous waste." Thus, any facility which fails to comply with any one element of the Criteria is an open dump.

OPEN DUMPING

In addition to establishing a mechanism whereby States, with EPA assistance, provide control over facilities which are found to be open dumps, RCRA prohibits the practice of open dumping of solid waste as a matter of Federal law.

The Federal prohibition may be enforced in Federal District Court through the citizen suit provisions in Section 7002 of RCRA. The Act does not give EPA authority to take legal action against parties that may violate the open dumping prohibition. Whether specific acts of specific individuals constitute the prohibited practice is a matter for the Federal courts to determine in the context of particular cases after de novo review of the facts in each case. In reviewing a case de novo, the court is not bound by the State's determination that a facility is an open dump. Rather, the court will make its own finding of fact and rule accordingly.

The open dumping prohibition is a provision of Federal law which stands on its own, separate from the State planning program. The inventory of open dumps is a publication of State findings from State planning efforts to satisfy the requirement of Section 4003 of the Act. The inclusion of a facility in the list of open dumps is not an administrative determination by EPA that any particular parties are engaging in the prohibited act of open dumping.

A determination for purposes of the open dump inventory need not precede on open dumping suit. However, before the results of the inventory may be used to support a legal determination that open dumping has occurred, the court would have to determine that the classification was a correct application of the criteria and that the defendant was responsible for actions violating the criteria. The court would be obliged to review the sufficiency of the State's classification of a facility and not simply defer to the State's decision.

DESCRIPTION OF INVENTORY

The first installment of the inventory was published on May 29, 1981 (46 FR 29064-29149). It reflected the initial efforts of the States in evaluating a portion of that total universe of facilities and represented a fraction of the total number of open dumps likely to exist. This second publication of the inventory reflects subsequent efforts of the States in evaluating facilities during fiscal year 1981. Those facilities found to be open dumps were added to the initial list, and facilities found no longer to be open dumps were deleted.

Actions on Facilities

Because the inventory lists facilities which the States have found to pose a reasonable probability of adverse effects on health or the environment, participating States will be planning for the closure or upgrading of these facilities pursuant to State authority. Specific actions may vary, including issuance of a State administrative order or the gathering of additional data. In some cases, States already have placed listed open dumps on compliance schedules for closure or upgrading prior to publication of this list.

All such actions are to be taken under State law and through State regulatory and administrative procedures. Interested parties may wish to contact the State solid waste management agencies (Appendix II) concerning the current status of any of these open dumps and the responsibilities the agencies have under State law.

State Approaches

EPA's Planning Guidelines require the plans of participating States to provide for an orderly time-phasing of the evaluation of disposal facilities to determine which facilities are open dumps. Thus, there is considerable flexibility for the States to set priorities for evaluating facilities. The establishment of these priorities is part of the State plans subject to the public participation provisions of 40 CFR 256.60.

The States have taken differing approaches in ranking facilities for evaluation and in conducting evaluations. For example, where States already had extensive data on hand, they could more easily rank their facilities for evaluation or make noncompliance determinations. Otherwise, resources had to be expended in locating facilities and gathering information, and fewer determinations would be likely to be made over the year.

For this second installment of the inventory, most participating States provided the Agency with brief descriptions of actions and approaches they have taken in evaluating facilities. These descriptions are included Appendix III. Further information may be obtained from the State agency personnel listed in Appendix II.

STATE ACTIONS AND APPROACHES TO THE INVENTORY

The following summaries are based on information provided to EPA by the States:

Alabama

A total of 8% municipal landfills were inventoried in FY81. All of the Federal criteria were applied to 58 of the facilities; the groundwater criterion was not addressed at the remaining 23. Of the total inventoried, 10 were classified as open dumps.

The State has received a good response on groundwater monitoring. Of 101 facilities inventoried in FY80 and 81, 78 of those site have installed groundwater monitoring.

Alaska

The Alaska Department of Environmental Conservation is conducting the open dump inventory through its three Regional Offices. Due to extreme weather conditions and the vast size of the State, most of the site visits can be done only in the summer months. Priority sites have been established as those facilities in population centers with greater than 1,000 people and those situated on the Alaska road system.

Arizona

Arizona's open dump activities were coordinated by a Bureau of Waste Control staff team consisting of a coordinator, a landfill inspector, and planning, administration, and technical support. This team accomplished data collection, assessment, field investigations and analysis, and recommended appropriate actions to be taken. For FY80 and FY81, the State focused on land disposal facilities receiving municipal waste.

A preliminary assessment of all land disposal facilities receiving municipal wastes was conducted to determine the areas that posed the greatest potential health risk. In general, the approach used to conduct the inventory was organized on a county-priority basis. Factors which ranked counties were: greatest number of problem sites, population size, and sites involved in legal action.

A series of public workshops was presented at various locations around the State for the purpose of orienting landfill owners/operators to the inventory. Following inspections, if a facility was classified as an open dump, a classification form was completed and the public was notified of the classification. If at the end of a 30 day public review period the facility remained classified as an open dump, the completed form was submitted to the Federal Government and the State entered into negotiations with the non-compliant parties in an effort to close or upgrade the facility through a compliance schedule mechanism.

It is anticipated tht all open dump facilities receiving municipal waste will be operating under a compliance schedule by early FY82. In FY82 reinspections for all facilities will be accomplished. The remaining disposal facilities receiving municipal wastes will be inventoried.

Arkansas

The Arkansas Department of Pollution Control and Ecology (ADPC&E) focused on sites with a history of operational problems. Sites with numerous citizens' complaints and/or ADPC&E enforcement actions were chosen to be inventoried. Thirty-two of these sites were evaluated and classified as open dumps in FY81.

California

California has developed an extensive program for the conduct of the open dump inventory based on two staff units: one specializing in data gathering and record searches, and an engineering unit conducting field inspections. Operators are notified at least 14 days before the field visits are made. Within 21 days of the field visit, the operator is notified of any deficiencies. The operator has up to three months to correct the deficiencies. If the operator claims that the facility has come into compliance, a re-inspection of the site is made. If the operator has not corrected the deficiencies and not come into compliance, the facility's name is referred to the Board, in open session for inclusion on the list of open dumps which are forwared to EPA.

Colorado

The Colorado inventory is conducted at two levels. The State agency conducts its inventory in accordance with a set of priorities based on the potential hazard a facility has on public health and the environment. Local Health Officers maintain a watch on all disposal sites in their jurisdictions. When a local official thinks it is warranted, he requests the State to inspect a site with the intention of action being taken. When the State receives a local request, they may alter their priority to include the local site in the State inventory procedure.

A special Colorado problem which influences their inventory is caused by the extreme cold of the Rocky Mountain climate. Inclement weather prevents ready access to inspectors because of closing of both the local roadway and the highways leading to the area. Some facilities require a one-way trip of over 300 miles.

A second aspect of winter conditions is the inability to cover the working face on a daily basis. Severe season-long freezing to depths of several feet make the storage of cover material impossible. Inventory of these sites provides some allowance for these conditions.

Spring thaws add to the difficulty of inventory judgement. Inspection of a facility during the typical dry conditions will not detect the surface or underground water pollution which exists during that short period of spring thaw when the water table is high. Shallow soils increase the briefness of this period.

The State of Colorado does not have authority inventory waste facilities located on Indian reservations. To remedy this omission, Region VIII EPA has assisted the State by performing the inspections of these facilities.

Excluding the inspections by the local officials of their sites, a total of 42 sites were inspected. Of this number, 20 were found to be in violation of Federal Criteria.

Connecticut

The inventory started in July following State Attorney General and EPA approval of an implementation plan on file with the DEP in Hartford. Due process as per State Administrative procedures Act will be followed on any enforcement action. All mixed waste community disposal site operators were notified of the program prior to initiation and all parties -- owner, operator, town administration, and health officials are invited to attend each field review. Monthly staff meetings of all responsible State agencies make final decisions on findings. Violators are notified, enforcement schedules are drafted and open dumps reported.

Enforcement actions through orders, agreements, notices, permit hearings or legal actions will be taken at the time decisions are made on each site. Most sites listed are already on one such compliance schedule for upgrading or closure. Priority on inventory has been set for mixed and bulky waste sites with available data, long life and worst cases given priority. Prioritization recommendations in EPA's classification manual are also considered.

Florida

During fiscal year 1981, 211 additional solid waste disposal facilities were investigated for the open dump inventory. Of those facilities investigated, 47 sites were found to be out of compliance with State criteria. A total of 97 violations were found for these sites, 3 of which were due to groundwater contamination. Approximately 80 of the facilities inspected received only partial evaluation due to lack of groundwater monitoring wells or wells unsuitable for sampling. Those facilities out of compliance are subject to citizens' suits in federal district court, unless the dump is on a State compliance schedule to either close properly or to correct the violation.

Georgia

A total or 99 additional solid waste disposal facilities were investigated in 1981. Ten of these sites were out of compliance with State standards. The State is working with these ten to either close or upgrade. Two previous sites were inventoried again and found to be incompliance and will be removed from the list.

Hawaii

Hawaii has developed its open dump inventory through the use of a multi-agency Technical Advisory Committee. The Committee is composed of the United States Corps of Engineers, Fish and Wildlife Service, Federal Aviation Administration, Geological Survey and the Hawaii Departments of Health and Land and Natural Resources. One site, the Schofied Barracks facility, was officially classified as an open dump in October 1980.

Hawaii's Department of Health has been utilizing the public participation process as part of the open dump inventory and has held public meetings at all sites including a 30 day comment period for the benefit of owners and operators of the facilities.

Idaho

The Idaho Department of Health & Welfare, in cooperation with Idaho's seven District Health Departments is focusing on the upgrading or closing of municipal disposal facilities classified as open dumps. Industrial disposal facilities will be inventoried as state resources allow.

Illinois

The 1980 Illinois open dump inventory efforts were primarily directed towards evaluating permitted operating facilities. However, a significant proportion of the efforts were expended in evaluating unpermitted operating sites and unpermitted non-operating sites. The FY81 inventory was directed at evaluating industrial sites. A total of 154 facilities were inspected during the year. twenty-nine (29) sites were identified as open dumps, and 125 facilities were in compliance with the Federal criterion. One of the FY80 open dumps was delisted during the year. The groundwater criterion remains unevaluated at many sites due to a lack of monitoring wells.

Indiana

FY81 saw a great deal of activity on the part of the ODI staff. Staff evaluated 531 unpermitted solid waste disposal sites and 46 permitted facilites. A rating priority system was developed for the unpermitted sites in order to put the data gathered into a useful form. Somewhat less than 100 of the unpermitted sites were given a high priority. Seven unpermitted sites were found to be open dumps. The rest are being pursued for closure or upgrade.

The permitted disposal facilities were evaluated for all applicable criteria except for groundwater monitoring criterion and parts of the surface water criterion. None of the permitted facilities were found to be deficient in any of the criteria evaluated.

FY82 will see the State continuing to evaluate both permitted and unpermitted disposal sites. Plans call for evaluation of 50 permitted solid waste disposal facilities and as many unpermitted sites as possible. The state will continue to push for closure or upgrading of all high priority unpermitted sites as they are evaluated.

Iowa

In the years since the State's Program was implemented, all major municipal dumps have been closed in Iowa. Through regionalization the number of facilities in the State has also been reduced. As a result, the inventory in the State of Iowa concentrated on large permitted facilities and non-permitted facilities at which surveillance and enforcement actions were required. Small promiscuous dumps were not included in the inventory but remained a part of the State's enforcement program. Iowa places particular importance on the groundwater criterion. Information gathered through the inventory will also play a role in permit renewal.

Kansas

The State of Kansas used available information to rank sites according to potential health and environmental need. Many of the State's open dumps have been closed in the last few years; as a result, the number of sites in Kansas has been reduced and the inventory concentrated on evaluation of currently permitted facilities. Small promiscuous dumps were not included in the inventory. Results have been sucessful as only four open dumps were published in the open dump inventory.

Kentucky

The Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection performed 15 complete partial evaluations during FY 80. In FY81, 55 complete full evaluations, 76 complete partial evaluations and 21 completions of sites evaluated in FY80 were to be performed. Eighty sites were required to submit a plan by January 1, 1981, detailing how the groundwater determination will be achieved on their respective sites. The Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection notifies each site operator prior to being inventoried, obtains a release for monitoring and notifies each operator that the sites will be published.

Due to problems in submitting groundwater assurance plans or installing monitoring wells, many of the complete full evaluations have been finished. Eleven sites were declared open dumps in FY 80, 5 of which have upgraded or closed and been removed from the list. Four sites were declared open dumps thus far for FY 81 with 40 sites still to be evaluated for compliance with ground water.

Louisiana

Field investigation and classification for the open dump inventory were conducted by the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) personnel.

Initial site inspections were made at about 1500 solid waste disposal sites during FY 80. Forty-two of those sites were classified those as open dumps. The re-evaluation consisted of additional site inspections and the collection of additional data to support the classification as an open dump.

Maine

Maine is dealing with over 300 solid waste sites that need to be inventoried. To facilitate the process the State inventoried those sites with the worst environmental impact first. This year the State had a formal prioritization workshop where points were assigned to each facility based on expected or documented environmental impact. The top 24 sites on the list were inventoried by the State of Maine. Based on State inspections and geohydrologic impacts recommendations were made to the Board of Environmental Protection. After due notice the board made official determination of the 24 facilities inventoried this year.

In that the worst sites were dealt with, all were found to be open dumps. Following formal designation, the Board directed the State staff to enter negotiations with towns for upgrading and/or closing of these sites. The same procedures will be followed for the next four years.

Massachusetts

Massachusetts plans to incorporate the open dump inventory into its ongoing enforcement program. During the Spring of 1980, all solid waste disposal facilities were prioritized by evaluating them for compliance with both State regulations and new Federal guidelines Past history of enforcement actions coupled with current status of the facility were used in selecting priority facilities for final open dump inventory inspections.

These priority facilities were than inspected to determine compliance with floodplain, disease, air, fire, and access critera. Inspections to assure compliance with regulations pertaining to groundwater, surface water, and all other criteria will be performed when the State sanitary landfill regulations are revised to conform with Federal guidelines.

Michigan

the Resource Recovery Division of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (MDNR) is the agency responsible for conducting the open dump inventory. in FY81, 92 general refuse sites were evaluated 31 open dumps were identified, 54 sites were indeterminate, and 7 facilities were found to be in compliance with the Federal criteria. This brings the two year total for Michigan to 317 sites evaluated, with 168 total open dumps, 133 indeterminate sites, and 16 facilities in compliance. Twenty of the sites evaluated in FY80 were either closed or upgraded; all general refuse sites operating in Michigan were evaluated in either FY 80 or FY 81.

Minnesota

Based upon an inventory of all active solid waste disposal sites in the State the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency (MPCA) submitted the names of 84 facilities to the Bureau of the Census for publication in the May 29, 1981, Federal Register. During 1981, enforcement follow-up by MPCA resulted in closure of 13 of these sites, and upgrading of 4 more. Three sites were subsequently added to the list of open dumps because of deterioration of the operational aspects at these sites. This resulted in the net removal of 14 sites from the open dump list for Minnesota, leaving 70 solid waste sites in violation of the Federal criteria and Minnesota Solid Waste Rules. MPCA enforcement and planning staff will continue to work to obtain the compliance of sites which remain in non-compliance.

Mississippi

During FY 81 all designated dumps in the State were evaluated against all criteria except air and groundwater. One hundred and sixty-five industrial sites in 42 counties were identified as open dumps.

In October, 1981, owners/operators of these sites were notified in person or by certified mail that their site would be included in the January 1982 inventory and that they should propose (for State department of Natural Resources approval) compliance schedules to close or upgrade their site. Follow-up action by the State will be conducted in January 1982.

Missouri

Since 1972, Missouri has closed the majority of its open dumps. Consequently, the inventory concentrated on sureillance of existing permitted facilities. The small number of open dumps found in Missouri reinforces the effectiveness of the existing permmitting and enforcement program. Through consolidation and regionalization the total number of disposal facilities has been reduced in the State. With respect to the critera, emphasis was placed on groundwater contamination, methane migration and general overall operations.

Montana

The Montana Solid Waste Management Bureau conducts a State inventory for State purposes. The additional Federally supported inventory uses the Federal Criteria in addition to the State regulations for waste disposal.

The State of Montana does not have authority to inventory waste facilities on Indian Reservations. To remedy this omission, Region VIII EPA has assisted the State by inspecting these facilities. Sixty-nine sites were inspected in Montana of which 49 were found in violation of Federal Criteria.

Nebraska

In conducting the inventory, the Department of Environmental control concentrated on permitted facilities in cities of the first class. The groundwater criterion was given first priority in Nebraska.

Nevada

Initially, Nevada's open dump inventory activities began with a review of the criteria and data obtained from past site inspections.

Next, the State conducted field inspections over 109 sites throughout Nevada. After an analysis of the criteria and data collected the State classified over 57 sites as open dumps. Operators were notified of the classifications and given 30 days to correct the deficiency. If the site operator did not come into compliance within the 30-day period, the facility was classified and referred to EPA as an open dump. Currently, the State is developing compliance schedules to bring all classified sites into compliance.

New Hampshire

The State of New Hampshire has prioritized for open dump inventory purposes over 300 solid waste disposal facilities based upon data gathered from field inspections. The open dump inventory process is being integrated with the State's enforcement program. Failure to comply with one or more Federal criteria implies a concurrent violation of one or more State rules which will result in an enforcement action to upgrade a facility in deficient areas so that it will comply with State rules or in an action to close out a facility where compliance cannot be achieved.

New Jersey

The Department of Environmental Protection identified 47 priority disposal sites within the State to be evaluated in FY 81. New Jersey elected to evaluate these sites for all eight Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Criteria as promulgated in the Federal Register of September 13, 1979.

However, the State elected not to report any open dumps until ongoing litigation including facility operators and citizens is cleaned up.

The NJPDES regulations are now in place and the State is now in a better position to enforce closures or compliance schedules for sites classified as "open dumps".

New Mexico

(Did not participate in the Subtitle D RCRA program)

New York

New York examined 85 facilities for all eight open dump criteria categories during FY 81. Of these facilities, 35 were determined to be open dumps. Because New York State feels strongly that citation as an open dump bears legal implications, the owners of each non-complying site are notified of the fact in a face-to-face meeting and are invited to upgrade or close under a State-issued compliance schedule in accordance with Section 4005(c) of RCRA. Negotiation of such schedules is currently underway for most of the open dumps listed in the inventory.

North Carolina

North Carolina has programmed the open dump classification work for its 170 permitted solid waste disposal sites over the 4-year period of 1980-1983. The largest number of sites (64) will be visited and evaluated during FY 81. Landfills were visited and evaluated for all criteria with the exception of groundwater because those sites permitted prior to 1979 were not required to include monitoring wells. Surface water samples are taken annually at all sites. Classification procedures followed EPA's Guidance Manual for the Classification of Solid Waste Disposal Facilities.

A help to the North Carolina survey was that quarterly inspections now being made under State rules and new pemitting procedures cover most evaluation critera (i.e. floodplains, ground water, etc.) outlined in the EPA Guidance Manual. The only criterion not covered is that of endangered species. The Department of Human Resources has coordinated with the Department of Natural Resources and Community Development to cover the endangered species criterion.

North Dakota

The North Dakota State Department of Health conducts a State survey of waste disposal sites in two stages. Aerial photographs are taken of each significant site twice annually; priority sites are photographed four times annually. Evidence of violations of a State standard is highlighted on the photograph and sent to the operator with instructions that it be corrected. Follow-up visits verify the violation or its correction.

The Federal inventory is conducted according to priorities for sites which have been adopted by the State. This priority listing may be changed by a visit to a site as a follow-up to the evidence in an aerial photo. Also, information from either local officials or private citizens can result in an inspection and inventory visit not in conformance with the established priorities. Federal inventory information was considered valid only after an on-site inspection.

A severe winter climate causes a frost line several feet deep. Storage of cover material is impractical in these conditions, the use of compacted snow to cover the working face may be judged as acceptable, except where methane generation problems may result due to increased moisture.

The North Dakota State agency does not have authority to inventory a waste facility on an Indian Reservation. To provide for this omission, EPA Region VIII has assited the State by inspecting those sites on Indian lands.

A total of 162 sites were inspected. Of these, 100 were permitted landfills. Thirteen sites were classified as open dumps and 38 are pending. Of sites classified as open dumps in the May 29, 1981 inventory, eleven have been upgraded or closed; one remains as an open dump.

Ohio

Ohio ODI activities in Federal FY 81 involved the evaluation of approximately 225 Solid Waste disposal facilities of which 207 sites were classified in accordance with all but two of the criteria. Many facilities could only be ranked according to their potential for methane migration and groundwater contamination, and were therefore given indeterminate status. The majority of facilities classified during Federal FY 81 were industrial waste disposal site, although some lagoon and muncipal sites were also included. Out of 45 sites initially classified as open dumps for failure to conform to one or more of the criteria, 20 have subsequently been closed or upgraded and removed from the list. In addition, one municipal facility classified during Federal FY 80 was upgraded and delisted. The Federal FY 82 inventory will concentrate on evaluation and classification of high priority indeterminate sites, included in the Federal FY 80 and FY 81 inventory.

Oklahoma

There are approximately 300 landfills in the State of Oklahoma. Two hundred and ten (210) of these are permitted. The Oklahoma State Department of Health (OSDH) classified 19 sites as open dumps and five as sanitary landfills during FY 81. The OSDH has classified a total of 54 sites since the beginning of the inventory in FY 80. An additional 30 sites will be classified during FY 82.

The classification process involves a file review, request for engineering reports when necessary, and a field evaluation. Actual classification is done by an open dump inventory committee composed of the District Sanitarian, the County Sanitarian, a field specialist from the State Office, and the director of the Solid Waste Division, or the Chief of the Industrial and Solid Waste Service.

Oregon

The Oregon Department of Environmental Quality has evaluated 260 solid waste facilities since the Open Dump Inventory began in October '79. The priorities for the last two years have been municipal, demolition and industrial disposal sites, and industrial surface impoundments. A total of 34 sites have been classified as "Open Dumps". Four have been removed form last year's list and three have been added. Because of recent budget cutbacks, the Oregon Open Dump Inventory process has ended, leaving 91 industrial sites and all sludge, agricultural and mining waste sites unaddressed.

Pennsylvania

In FY 81 Pennsylvania evaluated a total of 149 landfills for compliance with the Criteria. Of those, 60 were found to be open dumps. In addition, one facility was removed from last year's inventory of open dumps.

Pennsylvania has notified the responsible officials of all the facilities listed as open dumps. Pennsylvania is currently in the process of developing compliance schedules for these sites. The Commonwealth is developing these schedules based on its general statutory authority to issue the kind of compliance schedules anticipated under Section 4005(c) of RCRA.

Rhode Island

The State of Rhode Island is conducting the Open Dump Inventory in three phases. The facilities included in the first publication of the open dump inventory are the result of the completed portion of phase I activities. The State's 22 refuse landfills were the only facilities investigated during this phase and in most cases were not investigated for the groundwater or gas criteria.

Investigation of the refuse landfills will be completed along with complete investigations of the State's 12 sewage sludge disposal facilities (phase II) prior to the second publication of the open dump inventory.

All other solid waste facilities will be investigated thereafter (phase III).

South Carolina

A total of 58 solid disposal facilities were evaluated in 1981. Of these 58, 11 sites were found to be in compliance and 3 sites were listed as open dumps. One open dump has been upgraded to meet the criteria. Those remaining sites are indeterminate. Fourteen sites are having groundwater monitoring wells installed. Groundwater monitoring is conducted as an ongoing procedure.

South Dakota

The South Dakota inventory is conducted in accordance with a priority system based on State and Federal needs.

The State of South Dakota does not have authority to inventory waste facilities situated on an Indian reservation. To provide for this omission, the Region VIII office of EPA has assisted the State by inspecting sites on Indian lands.

A total of 65 sites were reviewed in South Dakota. Of these 53 sites were found in violation of the Federal criteria.

Tennessee

The Tennessee open dump inventory program for FY 81 included the completion of 16 municipal landfill site inspections carried over from the FY 80 program and an additonal 41 industrial landfill site inspections.

The FY 80 facilities were to be evaluated on the basis of all 11 Federal Criteria listed in the EPA Classification of Solid Waste Disposal Facilities Manual. Groundwater monitoring was not conducted for four of these sites. These sites were on the Eckhardt list but no wells were available for sampling. Of the FY 80 sites, only one facility was out of compliance. The owners of the site have agreed to a compliance schedule.

Six of the FY 81 industrial facilities were in violation of the EPA Criteria. All but one are now on compliance schedules. Two have corrected the violations and are now in full compliance.

Texas

In Texas, the open dump inventory was conducted jointly by the Texas Department of Health (TDH) and the Texas Department of Water Resources (TDWR). Muncipal solid waste sites were classified by TDWR. During FY 81 Texas classified ten sites as open dumps. Approximately 180 sites were evaluated and the majority were classified as sanitary landfills. Factors used to determine which sites would be inventoried were (1) the population served (2) the type of waste received (3) whether the site was in an environmentally sensitive area (4) location in relation to aquifers, (5) safety, (6) the annual rainfall, and (7) the remaining life of the site. A site inventoried was evaluated for all eight EPA Criteria before being classified as an open dump or a sanitary landfill. Groundwater compliance was determined using a soil resistivity survey, a process where electrical resistance of the soil is used to determine potential for leachate movement. This method will eliminate the need for monitoring wells in instances where there is low potential for groundwater contamination by leachate.

Utah

The review of solid waste disposal sites in Utah is conducted at two levels. The local health official is responsible for the condition of solid waste facilities and in this capacity serves as an early warning method for the State agency. The Bureau of Solid Waste Management conducts the inventory in accordance with a set of priorities which meet State and Federal needs. Reports from the local level can alter these priorities. Distance between sites and remoteness of sites from the offices of the Bureau limit the number of sites which can be reviewed. Depths of 300 feet to groundwater have reduced the urgency of hydrologic information in some locations.

The State of Utah does not have authority to inventory waste facilities located on Indian reservations. To correct this omission, EPA Region VIII has assisted the States by undertaking the inspection of these sites.

Not including the inspections by local officials, 49 sites were inspected in FY 81. Of this number, 39 were found to violate Federal Criteria.

Virginia

The Commonwealth of Virginia has inventoried a total of 146 facilities up to the present time. Of the 146 inventoried, ten have received complete evaluations. The remaining sites were not evaluated for the groundwater criterion. Many of these sites have been evaluated for the gas criterion, and the commonwealth intends to complete the gas criterion evaluation during FY 82.

Washingon

The Washington State Department of Ecology continues to conduct the open dump inventory through its four regional offices. The inventory of municipal facilities has been completed. Established compliance schedules will be monitored and the industrial inventory will be continued as state resources allow. Approximately 50 percent of the industrial facilities remain to be inventoried and an unknown number of sludge disposal areas.

West Virginia

the Department of Health established a priority list for site inspection based on the potential for damage to public health and the environment. During the past year, 24 sites were evaluated. Of that number, five sites passed all Criteria. Two sites were ordered to close by January, 1982, and ceased operation prior to that date.

Eighteen of the 24 sites evaluated were in violation of the surface water criterion and eight sites were determined to have failed the disease criterion.

Wisconsin

Wisconsin is utilizing the open dump inventory as an administrative planning tool to evaluate the progress of the State program, assess its needs and determine what actions should be taken to mprove waste management practices in the State. During FY 80, 1,200 licensed disposal facilities were inspected and worksheets completed. Only a few sites with obvious violations were actually classified during FY 80.

Eighty (80) sites were evaluated and clasified as open dumps or sanitary landfills in FY 81. An additional 40 sites are scheduled for more indepth evaluation and classification in FY 82. The ODI is being used to compare land disposal facilities on a State-wide basis in terms of potential environmental harm. This information is being used to establish priorities for insuring investigations and enforcement activities.

Wyoming

The State of Wyoming is characterized by the remoteness of many of its inhabitants. The remoteness necessitates a high cost per site inspection because of distances between facilities. One-way travel from the State office may be 500 miles or more. Influencing the judging of sites is the extremely low water table in certain areas of the State. Depths of over 1,300 feet may be found. The possibility of pollution compared to the cost to monitor combine to reduce the priority of the sites in regions of low rainfall to very low levels. A third factor affecting the Wyoming inventory is the large number of sites on Federally-managed lands. State control of these sites is indirect. Because a site on private land is more directly controlled by the state these sites will give quicker results and are placed higher on the priority list.

The State of Wyoming does not have authority to inventory waste facilities on an Indian reservation. To provide for this omission, the Region VIII office of EPA has assisted the State by insecting the sites on Indian lands.

A total of 16 sites were found in violation of the Federal criteria.

American Samoa

The inventory was conducted by local sanitarians of sites that have traditionally been used by the islanders over long periods of time. Little hazardous waste exists in American Samoa due to a very small industrial presence and no military installations. Clean-up of present facilities and site selection of new facilities is being incorporated into the Territories Solid Waste Management Plan.

Commonwealth of the Northern Marianna Islands

CNMI has one facility located on each of the three major islands of the island chain. Facility upgrading and, if necessary, new site selection is being accomplished through the development of the Commonwealth Solid Waste Management Plan.

Guam

Guam Environmental Protection Agency developed its inventory in two sections. The fist section identified waste management facilities presently in operation and satisfied the requirements of RCRA. The second section identified the location and characteristics of illegal and promiscuous dumps on Guam. A strategy for clean-up of these areas will be part of Guam's Solid Waste Management Plan. Two of the three sites classified as open dumps are scheduled for clean-up and should be in compliance by early 1982.

Puerto Rico

Puerto Rico evaluated 32 facilities during the FY 81, inventory, and classified 28 facilities as open dumps. Puerto Rico's inventory of solid waste facilities is nearly complete.

Virgin Islands

The Virgin Islands completed its inventory during FY 80. During FY 81 compliance schedules were negotiated with the 10 open dumps listed in the FY 80 inventory.
